

Ranking of Middle Eastern Energy Internet Companies

Overview

Here, we chart the top 10 most innovative and best-performing telecom companies based in the Middle East and discover how they are transforming into tech companies. From the $100 billion hydrogen initiatives in Saudi Arabia to the AI-driven decarbonization of the UAE, Energy Solutions presents the definitive analysis of the 10 titans reshaping global energy economics. Of these six companies, Saudi Telecom Company (STC) led the list with a brand. Energy companies have long been the beating heart of Middle Eastern and African economies. In the region, oil, gas, coal and renewables are more than commodities. Instead, they are instruments of state power, national identity and geopolitical leverage. Founded on May 29, 1933, as California-Arabian Standard Oil, Saudi Aramco has grown into the world's largest oil producer.
